A CLOSE CALL.

Heroism of Capt. E. S. Gilmer, of Greensboro.

[We are indebted to Mr. J. W. Cone for the following clipping.]

A letter from a private in the Thirty-first Infantry vividly describing the hardships and dangers endured by the volunteers, bailing the vessel during a storm.

Carroll M. Walcutt, a private of Company I, Thirty-first Regiment Volunteers, was with Lieut. Col. Webb Hayes' battalion of the Thirty-first, which was carried to Manila on the transport Maunabo, and which had such a narrow escape from being lost in a typhoon.

Walcutt has been writing to a friend in Washington, describing the terrible voyage. His letter, dated Manila, November 28, is as follows: "Guess you think it's a long time between letters, but when you hear how near I came to never writing another, you will forgive me. We got in this morning, four days over time, with a battalion of the most thankful, tired-out, bruised and burnt men that ever entered a harbor. We have certainly had the narrowest escape on record, and a voyage that will never be forgotten. We were given up for lost, consequently we met with a grand reception, and when the commanding general was told of our trip and what we did, he ordered a salute fired in honor of the 'heroes of the Maunabo.'"

"My God, it seems like a horrible nightmare to look back upon our experience of the past week, and think of the deeds of daring and self-sacrifice we witnessed. It seems incredible that men did dare to do such things. The boat we came on is an inferior vessel, and is known as the 'Rolling Moses' of the Pacific, but is a good sea boat as you may imagine."

We arrived in Honolulu December 3, and stayed until the 5th. "The first night from Honolulu our troubles commenced. The electric light plant broke down, and could not be fixed. We had no light excepted lantern lamps, that only seemed to intensify the darkness. We had good water, so we bore this small trouble without kicking. Next, bang, went the ice machine, so overboard went the meat, spoiled. Ice water was a thing of the past. We consumed our drinking water from the salt water, and had to drink it hot from the condensers; and it was horrible stuff, but that's another matter."

"Finally, one of the condensers broke, and that cut our water supply in two, so we got about a half pint of water a day, but these trifling inconveniences were borne with complacency. Then a few days later it was found that the vessel had left Honolulu with a short crew. The captain of the vessel employed about twenty soldiers to assist in fixing the boilers, etc. From day to day the engine broke down, and would delay us for a few hours until fixed, and now begins, what in my life shall always be known as a 'chapter of horrors.'"

"The boat sprung a leak, and it was necessary to detail a company each day to bail the water out of the boat; this old death trap had not even a suction pump on board, and the water had to be hoisted in buckets, but as the weather continued good and we held the water down, we felt but little uneasiness."

"On the night of the 22nd we hit a typhoon, or rather it hit us, and it was something terribly, terribly awful. Waves mountain high rode in safety but the boat seemed to be standing on its head and upside down, all the time. At midnight a new leak sprung, and a hundred men were called up and put to work to keep the ship afloat. Our company was on go at 7 o'clock the next morning so we did not go on that night. The next morning at 5 o'clock the engine broke completely down, and we were at the mercy of the waves; no way on earth to steer the boat, we were helpless."

"The firemen deserted their posts as the water was up to their waists and raining. Only a few of the soldiers remained by the boilers. At 7 o'clock Captain E. L. Gilmer came down, stripped to the waist, and told us how things were. He said: "Boys, it looks like it is all up with us, but there may be a fighting chance. The firemen have deserted the fires, and say it is death to go down in the hold, but I am going, and I want all of you to come with me."

"To a man they responded. We crawled along the deck, holding to the ropes, railing and down into the hold. The water was four feet deep and so hot we were blistered all over. It dashed from side to side, knocking us over and over, and through all of it we heaved coal in water buckets up to the boilers, while others with ropes and buckets hauled up water. Dante's Inferno could hardly surpass the scene. Great hissing boilers, the red glare of the fires, wet and shining bodies of the boys, as they struggled to hold on to a piece of rope and pass a bucket of water along the line."

"Now and then a loose board would strike a man, or one would be overcome with heat. All we could do would be to beat the injured back to the coal bunkers. We had no time to take them back upstairs, for that would stop the line of buckets. The wind in the rigging aloof moaned a requiem, and you could see by the light drawn faces of the men that in spite of their working like demons, they were thinking of home, sweet home, and tears were standing in their eyes."

"I cannot depict the scene in any way that would give you any idea of it. For six long hours our company worked; then we were relieved by others. Once the water got so high as to put out three of the four fires, but inch by inch we would gain, then lose, then gain again. The storm subsided and we got a little advantage of the water, but night and day since we bailed water.

"The boat with the other two battalions aboard (the City of Pekin) was close to us during the storm, but could do nothing but circle around us; a lifeboat could never have lived a minute; they only hoped to pick up a few of us by throwing lines after our boat went down, but it is only a very few of the would have lived."

"We go to the Island Mindanao, about 400 miles from here, where there is considerable fighting. The firing line, south of Manila, is only seven miles away. We can hear our cannon booming, and the boys are anxious to get into it, but we are not. Fighting from a whole lot—loss of sleep, excitement, etc., bruises, burns, broken arms and legs, demand a few days quiet and then we will be ready."

"The English captain of the ship paid us a very queer compliment. Said he: 'Major, I have carried many soldiers to Manila, but your command is the quietest, best-behaved set of men I have ever seen. I am sure when my heart was in my throat, they went down into that hold when my sailors would not have gone for love nor money, and said not a word. Your soldiers are beyond my comprehension. Nobody but a damn fool would have gone into the hold when we broke down, but thank God for the damn fools. But for them, I and my ship would be at the bottom of the sea.'"

News From Whitsett Institute. They say Greensboro has the smallest population. We do not know whether the statement is confirmed by the authorities or no; but we have decided to quarantine against Greensboro. With Panama, Jamestown, Whitsett and all other great (?) cities against her what shall become of her commercial interests?

The athletic association has been reorganized with a good enrollment; several others yet to join. Prof. J. H. Joyner was elected president of the association; H. V. Stewart, treasurer and corresponding secretary. It is the intention of our boys to "play ball" this spring.

Prof. Walter Clinton Bragg has moved to his beautiful residence at the "Oaklands." Dr. Whitsett was called to Raleigh Friday on business.

Rufus G. Burdette, who has been sick for some time, is out again, his many friends are glad to know.

When does the twentieth century begin? We agree with the Telegram: "About the time it should begin, or somewhere near that time."

The senior class meets early this week. It is the desire of the class to give a class day early on long.

It is now high time that the societies were electing their officers for commencement. We shall wait and see upon whom these many honors shall be conferred.

The proposed constitutional amendment has been the "go" in the societies for the past week. The reporter was present at the meeting of the Diocesan society when they "spouted" on the amendment. H. B. Smith for the negative made a most masterly attempt saying, "Mr. president, first, I want to show you the fallacy of the amendment; secondly its unconstitutionality. C. Barnhardt, affirmative, did himself honor showing that it would be for the best interest of the people of North Carolina. A. H. Olive, negative, completely carried his side; H. V. Stewart affirmative, painted in glowing hues the future of North Carolina if we fail to carry the amendment."

SARAH & EVELYN BAILEY FUND. Mr. T. B. Bailey Will Establish a Memorial Fund at the Normal.

President McIver is in receipt of a letter from Mr. T. B. Bailey, of Mocksville, announcing that he has decided to establish a memorial fund to be known as the "Sarah and Evelyn Bailey Fund," a part of the income from which will be used to help educate some deserving young students at the State Normal and Industrial College. The first beneficiary of this fund will enter the college January 30th.

In his letter Mr. Bailey says: "I establish this fund in memory of those who were dearer to me than life, and in grateful appreciation of your kindness and of the many attentions and loving care rendered to my dear ones by members of the faculty."

Charter Closes Tonight. The charter of Gate City Lodge, No. 138, Knights of the Mystic Chain, closes tonight, and from all indications the meeting promises to be a mammoth affair, taxing the capacity of the Odd Fellows' hall, where it will be held. One hundred extra chairs have been rented, and arrangements made for warm incense work. The band will be on hand to render music and altogether an enjoyable evening is promised. The list so far contains 221 names of leading representative citizens and those desirous of coming in on the charter must either be up tonight or send in their names. The charter fee is $5.00 and applicant escapes initiation. Mr. Summerfield earnestly requests members to be on hand promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

SENATOR TILLMAN TO SPEAK

On the Philippine Question This Week

REPRESENTATIVE RIXEY'S BILL

Not Likely to be Passed at this Session—The Commercial Cable Company Asks for Concessions.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Southern people are much interested in the efforts of the Commercial Cable Company to secure a concession from the government to lay cables to Manila, the exclusive franchise now being held by the Western Union people. The South Carolina, North Carolina, and even Virginia representatives, as well as those from other southern states have received communications asking them to do all in their power to secure the concession. One of the Florida representatives, Mr. Davis, stated that he was at the war department the other day to see about the matter, being requested to visit the department by the board of trade of Jacksonville, but he said he could get but little encouragement from the officials. There is a bill pending before congress, granting the Commercial people the franchise, the same as is enjoyed by the Western Union Company, which is all they ask, and the committee on insular affairs, which has jurisdiction over all bills affecting the internal affairs of the new possessions, has been granting hearings to those interested in the matter, including both the representatives of the Commercial and Western Union people. The latter were granted a hearing the other day, and naturally they oppose congress granting the concession to their opposition company. Among those who have appeared in behalf of the Commercial people are Mr. William Cook, the general counsel, and Mr. George Clapperton, commercial manager of the Commercial Cable Company.

The committee has already completed the hearing on the proposed bill, but they will not consider the nature of their report until some future time. This week in the senate promises to be marked by some fine oratory. On Monday Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, will get out his "pitchfork," for some remarks upon the Philippine question, and as the South Carolina senator always attracts a large audience, the prospects are that the announcement that he is to speak will draw a large crowd to the senate side of the capitol. Tuesday, Senator Bacon, of Georgia, will speak also on the Philippine question. During the week Senator Daniel will discuss the financial bill, as will also Senator Jones, the chairman of the democratic national committee. Senator Allison, chairman of the finance committee of the senate will speak during the present week upon the financial bill. Mr. Teller, Colorado, the great silver leader, will take the floor during the week for a second speech upon the financial bill.

Mr. Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railroad, came over from New York on Saturday for the purpose of securing the passage of his bill for the erection of a monument at Winchester to the memory of General Morgan, of Virginia.

Thomas J. Jerome, a prominent citizen of Monroe, is in Washington. Mr. Jerome thinks that the proposed constitutional amendment limiting suffrage in North Carolina will be adopted.

Congressman Rixey has made a request of the postoffice department to establish a new postoffice at a small village about six or seven miles southwest of Orange Court House, Virginia, which request will probably be granted.

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER. Two Thousand British Soldiers Killed at Spion Kop.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM. London, Jan. 29.—Any attempts to minimize the seriousness of the situation in South Africa are lacking here after the former reverses in British arms. This afternoon it is acknowledged that the most serious effort of the war failed miserably. There is no disposition on the part of leaders of public opinion to disguise ugly facts. But every disposition to fulfill difficulties and discover the best way out. All hope of the speedy relief of Ladysmith is abandoned. Consensus of opinion of experts urges the immediate shifting of the theatre of war from rocky kopjes to open veldt free states. One thing seems certain, another long pause seems inevitable unless Boers assume the offensive, because even if Buller is to attempt to reach Ladysmith again planning the new move will occupy time. Afternoon papers are drawing closeness of parallel between federal attack on Lee at Fredericksburg and operations on upper Tugela River.

A Nuisance. Complaint is being made about the number of little darkies standing around the corner of Buchanan street, making it difficult for persons to pass without getting into the street.

DEATH OF W. J. LYON.

Funeral Yesterday Afternoon from West Market Street Church.

Mr. W. J. Lyon, about 52 years of age, died at his home on West Gaston street, on Saturday night, of paralysis. He had been confined to his home for about three or four years.

Mr. Lyon was well known, having many friends throughout this and his native county. Before his sickness he had filled the position of auctioneer at the Farmers' Warehouse. Mr. Lyon moved to Greensboro several years ago from Durham. While there he was auctioneer in one of the warehouses at that place.

He leaves a wife and one child, and three sisters: Mrs. J. Ed Lyon, of Durham, Mrs. Beasley and Mrs. Cozart, of Granville county.

The funeral was conducted from the West Market Street church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Rowe, assisted by Rev. E. W. Smith, of the Presbyterian church. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends.

The two pastors paid a feeling tribute to the life and character of this good man. He had been a member of the church for many years, and was a devoted follower of the gospel.

After the funeral services the remains were laid to rest in Green Hill cemetery.

BURGLARS CAUGHT.

One of Them Was a White Man named David Reese.

For some time burglaries have been committed in the eastern part of the county and it has been a hard job for the authorities to get their hands on them, or to even stop them.

On Friday, however, a colored man was brought to jail charged with having been engaged in burglary near McLeansville. It was urged that a bond be fixed so he could give it and escape lying in jail with smallpox. In other words a straw bond was talked about, but the sheriff held his man, and his man squealed.

The result was that a white man, whom the negro evidently "informed on," has been arrested and is believed to be one of the leaders in the burglary business. His name is David Reese, and is the same young man who entered into a conspiracy to get the dispensary into trouble by swearing he bought liquor there though under age, and that his age was not questioned.

Both men are now held for burglary. We are informed that Reese has been sent to Graham jail.

VANCE MONUMENT UNVEILING. It Will be a Great Occasion for the State.

It is proposed to make the unveiling of the Vance Monument here next May—probably the 20th—a memorable occasion.

The Confederate Veterans' Association this year meets at Louisville, Ky., too far away for many veterans to attend. So it is the intention of the old soldiers of the state to make the unveiling of the Vance monument a sort of reunion. And in this it is understood that they will be largely joined by the veterans of South Carolina.

The railroads have already indicated their purpose to give a low rate for the occasion, and it is expected that this, together with the love the people of North Carolina bear to him whose monument is to be unveiled, will bring a great crowd of people here. And this will certainly be true if the people of Raleigh promptly take the matter in hand in time and do their duty.

It is not too early to begin now. A little more than three months and May 20th will be here. Both the local camp of veterans and the chamber of commerce ought to appoint committees to secure low rates, provide hotel accommodations and make preparations generally, not only to get a big crowd here at the unveiling, but to properly care for them when they come.

With a little effort the occasion can be made a great one for Raleigh and for North Carolina. The people of the city owe this much to themselves and the people of the state owe it to the Great Commoner whose memory it is to revive and perpetuate.—News & Observer.

Battle of Spion Kop. By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. New York, Jan. 29.—Journal special from London: Last reports from Spion Kop show two thousand were killed in the assault on the hill taken by the British and afterwards recaptured by the Boers. Whole regiments were annihilated. Boer losses also heavy. Conservative estimates place their dead at five hundred. No estimate of the wounded has come through, but the list must be a terrible one. Enough is known now to mark Spion Kop as one of the bloodiest battlefields of the recent war.

Prevented a Tragedy. Timely information given Mrs. George Long of New Straitsville, O., prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had kept her awake every night. She tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Look Out. A telegram from the weather bureau says a cold wave is coming this way.

NEGRO SUFFRAGE A CRIME

And Folly When Established, a Sin and Disgrace if Longer Endured.

The greatest folly and crime in our national history was the establishment of negro suffrage immediately after the war. Not a single good thing has come of it but only evil. Everybody now admits that it was an awful mistake. Northern writers and speakers even men of the old black republican abolition crowd, now say that it would have been much better to apply an educational or a property qualification before letting the negro vote. Horace Greeley, Wendell Phillips, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, George Wm. Curtis and other northern friends of the negro saw before they died that a wrong had been done the negro in giving him the ballot before he was prepared for it.

The best friends of the negro in the south saw at the time of his enfranchisement and are now even more clearly the folly of giving him the ballot. The wisest negro in America, the one that has done and is doing the most for his race, more than all other negro leaders combined, Booker T. Washington, says that an educational or property qualification is necessary to protect the ballot against the ignorant negro. We doubt if there can be found in the whole south one single man of mature years and good intelligence who, if sworn in a court, could say on oath that it was a wise or a good thing to put negro suffrage upon the south, as it was put thirty years, at the point of Federal bayonets. We doubt if Pritchard, or Butler, or Pearson would maintain this, even on the stump.

It is universally agreed that negro suffrage was a folly and a crime when it was established. Has it become less so? Has it not grown worse each succeeding year? Is it not responsible for the growing ill feeling between the races, for crimes, for mobs, lynchings, and riots? Has it not almost destroyed the Union? Has it not tied the north to overthrow the guarantees of civil liberty in trying to force negro equality upon the south? Has it not produced "force bills," "federal supervisors," "election returning boards," "stuffed ballot boxes," "federal prosecutions," "riots," and "revolutions"? Are these things to continue forever? And for what, pray? To keep up the folly that everybody admits should never have begun? Such would be worse than idiotic, it would be criminal. Such a course would be an eternal infamy and disgrace to the southern people. They will not pursue it. They will undo the folly that has been done. They will never voluntarily endure what they originally believed to be, and subsequently have proved to be, a great folly, injustice and crime, threatening not only their political liberties but their lives and property and the peace and security of their wives and helpless little children. Negro suffrage was a crime put upon the south in the hour of her defeat by a fanatical and furious foe. The south is now in the Union, is again on her feet, is regaining strength and power, and it would be most disgraceful infamy for her longer to endure this undurable humiliation, shame and peril. She will not do it.—News & Observer.

Chair Factory Burned. By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. New York, Jan. 29.—Haywood's chair factory burned this morning on Cherry street. Six men injured and carried out of the building. The fire jumped across the street and set two large warehouses on Alderman street on fire.

Six Aldermen. It was suggested by a gentleman a few days ago that the number of aldermen should be limited to six, one from each ward, and pay them a reasonable salary for their services. What do you think of it?

Thanks Gentlemen. The Telegram returns thanks for additional courtesies shown by Messrs. Reese & Elam, of the Daily Record, and hopes it may never have to reciprocate.

MONDAY, JAN. 29, 1900.

With the Boer-British war, the Philippine campaign, the Roberts case and the constitutional amendment, it seems that the average editor ought to be able to grind out something more or less startling.

When reason, fact and fairness are dethroned in a newspaper controversy and prejudice, spite and bitter personalities take their place, decency demands that such controversy stop. Some people recognize decency and respect its demands; others do not. That man who does so will feel better, if he doesn't look better, when the strife is finally declared off.

The editor of the Siler City Messenger will doubtless continue to enlighten the ignorant masses from week to week on the subject of smallpox. Perhaps he can be induced to write a history of the disease before the flood—and after, showing how it was aboard the ark during the time the waters were up, and how it was concealed by Noah (the "authority" of the boat), how it was brought straight from the mountains of Ararat to Greensboro, and how each successive generation of city authorities here have kept it smuggled. That would be the pure stuff! By all means let the dirty scroll be rolled back. The people will quake, but the earth quakes sometimes and it does not matter.

John W. Goodwin Run Out of North Carolina.

Suffolk, Va., Jan. 28.—A fugitive from home and carrying the scars of many shot wounds, Jno. W. Goodwin, aged thirty years, of Aboskie, N. C., arrived in Suffolk tonight, where he told of his persecutions at the hands of alleged moonshiner distillers of Hertford county.

Godwin left home to save his life. He will sell his farm and town property and leave North Carolina for good. Three weeks ago Godwin and a friend were shot from behind in Aboskie, sustaining dozens of wounds from small shot. Early yesterday morning three men went to his home, half a mile from town, and fired into the house with buckshot and rifles of large calibre.

Godwin, who was sleeping beside his wife, was wounded through the nose with a rifle ball. Both sought safety upstairs.

THOUGHT HIM DEAD.

They were armed with a gun and two revolvers, but the fire was not returned, being held in anticipation that the men would follow them. When the wife had cried out that her husband was dead the attacking party left, thinking their mission done.

Late yesterday afternoon a man, supposed to be the besiegers' leader, was arrested by a local officer, who insisted on going for his prisoner without Virginia detectives. The man was carried before a magistrate, some miles in the country, and discharged. Neither Godwin nor the detective from Suffolk had the opportunity to appear against him.

WAS SECRET SERVICE AGENT.

Two other persons against whom warrants were issued were not arrested. The sentiment of that community is strongly against Godwin, who was formerly against Godwin, who was formerly a secret service agent, and who is suspected of having lodged information against distillers of illicit corn whiskey, one of whose stills was seized some time ago.

Godwin is a travelling salesman. His father is deputy sheriff in Hertford county. Mrs. Godwin is still in that vicinity, but not at home. She was brave during the attack on her husband, but has since collapsed.

Caught On a Bridge.

A special to the News and Observer from Tarboro says: "This morning as the work train was coming to the depot it struck Mrs. Mack Denton, her young son and John Manning, on the Norfolk and Carolina bridge.

Mrs. Denton was killed almost instantly, but the others escaped with terrible bruises. The child's condition in the afternoon was very serious. All the parties were on their way to town and were caught by the train on the bridge.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Chicago Professor Fears Its Visit to this Country.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The Tribune today quotes Dr. Edwin Klebs, professor of pathology in the Post-Graduate Medical School, as saying that the United States government should make preparations for a visit of the bubonic plague. He points out as significant the action of France, Germany, Russia and Italy in making Pasteur antitoxin, and suggests that the United States department of agriculture be authorized by congress to establish serum stations in the islands of the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, and perhaps the great lakes.

"Klebs' idea came from his careful watch of the spread of the disease, and from the fact that in 1898 Carlton Amoy, by the administration of Pasteur antitoxin, reduced the death rate from 90 per cent. to 9 and 6 per cent.

Story of a Slave.

"To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

DOES SMALLPOX or vaccination either save your eyes? If you continue to neglect them you will regret it, as eye trouble is worse than smallpox. Unless remedied it is with you for life. Our glasses are the best and will save your eyes. Drs. Moore. 2t.

Gaining a Wide Reputation.

As a cure for rheumatism Chamberlain's Pain Balm is gaining a wide reputation. D. B. Johnston, of Richmond, Ind., has been troubled with that ailment since 1862. In speaking of it he says: "I never found anything that would relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts like magic with me. My foot was swollen and pained me very much, but one good application of Pain Balm relieved me. For sale by O. E. Holton, druggist.

HIS FIRST THING

Inventor John Lofting, from 1900 to 1901.

"There is a rich family named Lofting in England," said a dealer in fancy articles, "the fortune of whose home was founded by so apparently insignificant a little thing as the thimble.

"The first thimbles seen in England were made in London less than 200 years ago by a metal worker named John Lofting.

"The usefulness of the article recommended it at once to all who used the needle, and Lofting acquired a large fortune and great fame in the manufacture of the new accessory to the needle-worker's art.

"The implement was then called the thumb bell and was worn on the thumb. The clumsy mode of utilizing it was soon changed, but when and why the name thimble was given the article do not appear.

"Lofting's thimbles, and, in fact, all thimbles, were made of either iron or brass, and specimens of them extant many of which are preserved as heirlooms, are crude and clumsy looking things compared with the commonest thimbles of today, although their cost was many times as much.

"Today gold, silver, iron, ivory, steel, sometimes glass, and even pearl and celluloid are utilized in making thimbles. Since art needlework became fashionable thimbles of elaborate workmanship and great value, to accompany the rich and costly implements and materials wealthy needleworkers affect, have found a large sale.

"Solid gold thimbles, carved and frequently set with diamonds, have been found none too good for some people. Thimbles made of ivory, with the monogram or initials of the person for whom they are intended set in precious stones, are not by any means unknown."

HE ATE THE SOAP.

Garland Would Have Swallowed It If It Had Killed Him.

The late Augustus H. Garland, who was attorney general under President Cleveland, was very fond of practical jokes and during his term of service in the senate frequently turned the laugh on his colleagues. Senators Voorhees and Vest, with whom he was very friendly, finally determined to turn the tables. Mr. Garland had a habit, like Voorhees, of munching candy, and Vest and Voorhees made it up between them to take advantage of his fondness for sweets to play their trick. They had some tempting looking chocolate caramels prepared, with the interior filled with brown soap. These they took to the senate chamber and Voorhees placed them on his desk. The lid being off when Mr. Garland sauntered down the aisle he noticed them at once.

"What have you there, Dan?" he inquired.

Voorhees looked up carelessly from his writing and responded: "Caramels, help yourself."

Garland needed no second invitation and picking up two or three placed one in his mouth. Steadily he chewed away, his face betraying no sign of the conflict within him. This alarmed Voorhees, who went to Vest's desk and said:

"He's eating them, Vest! What shall we do? The stuff will kill him sure!" Senator Vest replied that it could do no more than make him sick. Garland swallowed the stuff, although he was foaming at the mouth from the soap. He related the incident afterward with great gusto and said he would have swallowed it if it had killed him.

Strengthening Weak Eyes.

What is said to be an excellent lotion for strengthening weak eyes is as follows: Four teaspoonfuls of boracic powder and a pint of boiling water. Put the powder in a jug and pour the water over it. Stir until quite dissolved, then put the solution into a bottle and keep well corked until required. When required, add a little boiling water to an eggcupful, with or without the addition of two teaspoonfuls of laurel or elder flower water, and bathe the eyes frequently with this, using a soft rag or fine sponge for the purpose.—New York Tribune.

Insect Notes.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wing produces no sound. When the movements are rapid, a noise is produced which increases with the number of vibrations. Thus the house fly, which produces the sound of F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute or 885 times a second, and the bee, which makes a sound of A, as many as 26,400 times or 440 times a second. A tired bee hums on E, and, therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 880 times a second.

The Whale Cure For Rheumatism.

It is said that in Australia there is a hotel where rheumatic patients congregate. Whenever a whale has been taken the patients are rowed over to the works in which the animal is cut up, the whalers dig a narrow grave in the body and in this the patient lies for two hours, as in a Turkish bath, the decomposing blubber of the whale closing round his body and acting as a huge poultice. This is known as the whale cure for rheumatism.

Catarrh is Not Incurable

But it can not be cured by sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures which reach only the surface. The disease is in the blood, and can only be reached through the blood. S. S. S. is the only remedy which can have any effect upon Catarrh; it cures the disease permanently and forever rids the system of every trace of the vile complaint.

Miss Josie Owen, of Mansfield, Ohio, writes: "I was afflicted from infancy with Catarrh, and no one can know the suffering it produces better than I. The sprays and washes prescribed by the doctors relieved me only temporarily, and though I used them constantly for ten years, the disease had a firmer hold than ever. I tried a number of blood remedies, but their mineral ingredients settled in my bones and gave me rheumatism. I was in a lamentable condition, and after exhausting all treatment, was declared incurable. Being S. S. S. advertised as a cure for blood diseases, I decided to try it. As soon as my system was under the effect of the medicine, I began to improve, and after taking it for two months I was cured completely, the dreadful disease was eradicated from my system, and I had no more of it."

Many have been taking local treatment for years, and find themselves worse now than ever. A trial of S. S. S. For the Blood will prove it to be the right remedy for Catarrh. It will cure the most obstinate case.

SMALLPOX AT HIGH POINT.

Ten Cases Reported—One White Man and the Others Colored.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, Jan. 29.

The report Saturday evening that there were several cases of smallpox in High Point turned out to be no joke.

It was found to be among the negroes living in the eastern part of the city, on Leonard row. The victims were Tom Alford, who works on the railroad yards, his wife, and two children and one Norman Brown. At first the doctors were inclined to think it was chickenpox, but on going back next morning (Sunday) at once pronounced the disease smallpox. Dr. Rleson, county physician, came up yesterday afternoon and reported the case genuine. Said he: "If it isn't smallpox we haven't any in Greensboro."

Later in the afternoon five more victims of the disease were located, this time one of the number being white and the other four negroes—two women and two men.

And so there are said to be ten genuine cases of smallpox at present in High Point. This appears to be a pretty good start for one day but with the precautions we have taken, placing guards over some of the houses, quarantining others and moving some of the victims to an isolated spot, there should not be any undue excitement over the matter. They say it is among us and the best thing we can do is to fortify our systems against the disease and prevent its spreading by being vaccinated, keeping our persons clean, etc., and take things as easy as possible under the circumstances.

The excitement naturally resulting from the announcement that smallpox is in our midst had a good effect on the anti-vaccinators, and they, with scores of others, kept the doctors busy most all day yesterday vaccinating.

A little thing like small pox is not going to hurt High Point.

W. J. Armfield, Jr., cashier of the Bank of Randolph, Asheboro, was here yesterday.

J. E. Farrar represented Charlotte in this city yesterday.

Dr. R. L. Rleson, who came down to examine smallpox suspects, returned to his home in Greensboro this morning.

John W. Johnson, of Baltimore, spent Sunday in the city.

Wm. Griffin, of Clifton Forge, Va., was a guest of this city last evening.

Keen were two Baltimore people here

Death in Reidsville.

Rev. P. J. Carraway received a telegram yesterday morning announcing the death of his son, P. J. Carraway, in Reidsville. He died yesterday morning about two o'clock, at his home on Soles street, of consumption.

He had been unable to leave the house for quite a long time, and his death was not unexpected. He was about 42 years old and left a wife and one child. The funeral was conducted at the Presbyterian church at Reidsville yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the pastor Rev. D. I. Craig after which the remains were interred in Greenview cemetery.

Graphophone-Grand Concert.

church. Drs. Moore, of the Moore the court house on Friday night next, for the benefit of the church debt. It is hoped that a large crowd will be in attendance, as this is a good work the little ones are doing, and a strictly first class concert may be expected, as the machine is Edison's latest invention. The admission will be 15 and 25 cents, no reserved seats.

JOHN B. WRIGHT.

A Noted English Baritone.

Arthur Randolph Seaton is the famous English baritone of whom so much was said and written in New York by members of the "Four Hundred" some two or three years ago.

He made his debut in London with great success in "La Mascotte," and afterwards went on a tour through the United States with Henry Irving, after which he went to Italy and having completed his studies there, he was engaged to sing the part of Ashton in "Lucia," in which he made great success. While in New York he was the protégé of the late Mrs. William C.
Whitney, and through her influence he secured many important engagements.

His voice is a pure baritone of great power and extensive compass, and besides this he is an excellent actor, intelligent and full of dramatic instinct, and from his unfailing good humor, is a favorite wherever he goes, and will doubtless gain many more admirers and friends in this city during his engagement with the International Grand Opera Company on Saturday, Feb. 3rd, at the academy of music, when he will be heard in Grand

The "International" is reputed to be who compose it.

Placing Your Life Insurance in Some Companies

IS LIKE keeping YOUR MONEY IN A PAPER BOX INSTEAD OF A MODERN SAFE. A Modern Safe is a place of safety for money, so is the OLD PENN MUTUAL LIFE of Philadelphia, which guarantees to pay you a large interest on your money that you place with them for safe keeping, and gives you the best protection for the least money.

Provide for your loved ones after you are gone by taking a Life Insurance Policy in the Penn Mutual, which is payable immediately upon satisfactory proof of death.

We will take pleasure in explaining the plans to you
